Plane Capsizes, Boat Overtakes at Lake Marie Without Fatal Injuries

Lake Marie was the scene of two accidents this week neither one of which resulted in any fatality.

The amphibious plane of C. Schuetz, of Chicago capsized in the lake Sunday when the pilot neglected to retract the landing gear. Schuetz had just fueled at the Ferris landing field and workmen listened for the crash when they saw that he had forgotten to pull up the wheels as they saw him disappear over the tops of the trees to alight on the lake.

The plane nosed over in comparatively shallow water near Bentz Island. It was but slightly damaged and Schuetz was not badly hurt. He was quickly pulled from the water and the Pregenger Dredge Co., pulled the plane out Tuesday.

The second accident involved two young married couples from Blue Island whose boat upset 500 feet from shore at Ferris bay. Their screams for help as they clung to the overturned boat soon attracted rescuers who brought them to shore. They said the boat overturned when they stood up to change places.

The Antioch Rescue squad was called while their cries were still heard but they were landed before the squad got there. Capt. Herman Holbek said that first aid was given and their condition was such that a physician's attention was not needed. He did not learn their names. They were at the lake for the day and returned home yesterday.

Sports and Home Show Pleased All; Plans for Next Year Considered

The Sports and Home show came to a close Sunday evening after a week of fine entertainment and fairly good crowds.

Saturday night's crowd was the largest but although Sunday night's crowd was smaller, the people spent more money at the concessions, officials said.

Exhibitors on the whole were quite pleased with the results and Glenn Burt, treasurer, said that at least 50 of them have asked for reservation in next year's show.

The management said that it will profit next year from mistakes made this year, although the show this year was well handled. The excellent entertainment detracted from the midway of exhibits which was the purpose of the show. Next year the free acts will be situated and spaced so that people will have opportunity to spend more time at the exhibits.

Many signatures were obtained to a petition which will be presented to county officials by next year requesting the creation of a county health department. The purpose behind the Chain O' Lakes council which sponsored the Sports and Home show is to make the region a healthier place.

Those who worked hard in putting on the show were congratulated and praised on every hand for their initial efforts.

Andrew J. Burkhardt, Of Indian Point, Dies

Andrew J. Burkhardt, 60, a resident of Indian Point, died Wednesday morning at St. Therese hospital where he had been a patient since last Saturday.

He is survived by a brother, Ernest, and two sisters, Elsie, and Clara Burkhardt, all of Chicago.

Mr. Burkhardt had been a resident of Indian Point having come there for retirement from Chicago where he was born and raised.

Plans for the funeral haven't been completed. Interment will be in St. Lucas cemetery.

VILLAGE WARNS OWNERS OF CARS

All owners of automobiles who live within the Village limits must purchase vehicle tags for their cars by July 15th or be liable to arrest, according to village president, George B. Bartlett. Each car which does not carry the new license tag after July fifteenth will be ticketed.

Motorcycle Catches Fire

The motorcycle of two Waukegan boys caught fire at 11 o'clock Monday night in front of the Bob Mann home. The machine was badly damaged.

Petty Gives Autonomy to Lake Forest High School

County School Superintendent W. C. Petty yesterday decided that Lake Forest High school should be an autonomous unit and separate from Highland Park in Dist. 113. He named it Dist. 115 and ordered it to select a board and president.

Supt. Petty declared that state law and tradition permits definite communities of any size to have its own education institution. Lake Forest complained that it bore more than its share of the taxes in the district.

Antioch V.F.W. Beats Pleasant Prairie 9-2 In General Slugfest

Booming bats and super pitching told the story of the V. F. W. team's 9 to 2 victory over Pleasant Prairie Sunday. The visiting pitchers were the victims of an 18-hit assault by Antioch which saw every regular getting at least one hit with five of the blows going for extra bases.

In contrast Pleasant Prairie got but three scattered hits off the southpaw slants of Ray Bushing.

Antioch's attack was led by Ed Palenski, Rudy Corrado and Glenn Fox. Palenski snapped out of a slump by slamming out two doubles and two singles driving in two runs. Corrado had a perfect day at the plate collecting three singles and driving in three runs. Fox collected a double and two singles while driving in three runs.

Defensively the story was a bit sadder as the infield committed eight errors. The outfield functioned perfectly, however, Ray Scott and Jim Fields each making two nice catches.

The old master, Ray Bushing was in rare form Sunday. He had a no hitter until the sixth and probably would have had a shut out except for two errors which were turned into runs by Pleasant Prairie. His control was almost perfect as he walked no one but hit one man.

The V. F. W. scored first collecting a run in the second when Wells singled, advanced to second on Shank's sacrifice, and scored on Corrado's single. Antioch scored three more in the third and three in the fifth. Eighth inning doubles by Bushing, Palenski and Fox sent the final two tallies across the plate.

Pleasant Prairie scored its runs in the seventh when Oechler and Jr., Zirbel were safe on errors and rode home on Wally Zerbe's long triple.

Next Sunday the V. F. W. travel to Fox River Park where they will attempt to avenge an earlier beating by Wilmet. Monday, the Fourth of July, Antioch will be at home to take on the Northside A. C. of Waukegan.

Owing to the fact that the next regular meeting of the American Legion post No. 748 falls on the opening night of the Legion carnival, the meeting night has been moved forward from July 7 to tonight. Last minute preparations will be made at this meeting for the carnival which will be held at the same place as last year.

Clarence L. Kutil, 52 Prominent Teacher Dies Funeral Held Yesterday

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. yesterday for Clarence L. Kutil, 52, of North ave., one of the village's outstanding citizens who died Sunday night in Wesley Memorial hospital, Chicago, following a lingering illness.

Mr. Kutil had been ill since last December and was on leave from his position as vocational agriculture instructor since the first of the year. He went to the hospital a week ago Monday.

Mr. Kutil was known nationally for his leadership in the Future Farmers of America. He was given public recognition last year when a service was conducted at the high school with many dignitaries in the educational field attending. At that time he was presented a diamond pin for 25 years of service with 4-H groups, and in November was presented another diamond pin by the Illinois Agricultural association.

Born in Kellnersville, Wis., Aug. 26, 1896, Mr. Kutil was educated in the Wisconsin public schools and was graduated from the College of Agriculture at the University of Wisconsin. He taught at River Falls, Wis., and Seymour, Wis., before coming to Antioch on Aug. 1, 1923 to teach in the Antioch Township High school.

One of the organizers of the Antioch Poultry fair, forerunner of the Lake County fair now held at Libertyville, Mr. Kutil took an active part in county exhibits of agricultural products. He trained two national championship poultry judging teams and was a 4-H club leader in addition to his Future Farmers work. He established the FFA in the Antioch school and his teams were consistent winners in regional and state contests.

Known to his friends as "C. L." he was a member of Sequoit lodge No. 827, A. F. & A. M., Antioch chapter Eastern Star, Odd Fellows, Antioch Methodist church, and a life member of the University of Wisconsin alumni chapter.

He was also a member of the Illinois Vocational association, Alpha Zeta fraternity, Lake County Farm bureau, Illinois Education association, National Education association, and past president of the Illinois Vocational Agriculture Teachers association.

Surviving are the wife, Lucile; a daughter, June Ann; four brothers, Peter of Manitowoc, Wis., George of Green Bay, Wis., Frank of Branch, Wis., and Jacob, of Racine, Wis., and two sisters, Mrs. Ann Tompach, Racine, and Mrs. Emma Reindl, Manitowoc.

The Rev. G. Richard Tuttle had charge of the service at the Strang chapel and at the burial place in Hillside cemetery.

Music for the service was provided by Hans von Holwedé of the high school staff. Serving as pall bearers were Mr. Kutil's former students, Kenneth Denman, Homer White, Allen Thain, Raymond Wells, Richard Hartnell and Lloyd Atwell.

The funeral was largely attended and many persons called at the funeral home while Mr. Kutil's body was there.

Northwestern Research Points Way To Cure for Disease, Undulant Fever

Two Northwestern University physicians reported this week that BAL (British Anti-Lewisite) may become an effective weapon against undulant fever. Their experiments show that the compound kills the disease microbes in test tubes.

Dr. Harry B. Harding, associate professor of bacteriology, and Dr. Gordon W. Raleigh, on the staff of the department of medicine, both of the Medical School faculty, told results of test tube research with the drug before a meeting of the Evanston Hospital Alumni Association. Both men are on the hospital staff.

Animal studies are now under way to determine whether BAL, originally developed as an antidote for Lewisite, a poisonous arsenic gas, may be employed as a cure for undulant fever (brucellosis) in humans.

College Enrollment Up

Enrollment for the summer session at Northern Illinois State Teachers College continues to show the post-war upward trend with a total of 755 students registered. The session opened June 13 and will conclude August 5.

The DeKalb school's pre-war all-time high of 782 was recorded in the 1929 summer enrollment. From 1946 the trend has been on the increase as follows: 1946, 598; 1947, 690; 1948, 703.

This week marked the passing of one of Antioch's finest and most able men, Clarence L. Kutil.

He was one of the best-known educators in the field of agriculture in the middle west, and a pioneer in his field. Although scientific farming was a joke at the time he came to Antioch, more than twenty-five years ago, his sincerity, friendliness, and genuine interest in his job soon gained the respect of the community.

Hundreds of boys who were fortunate enough to have been members of his classes, are better farmers and better citizens through contact with C. L. Kutil.

Truly, Antioch and Antioch Township high school, have suffered a very real loss in his passing.

Fox Lake Dealer Arrested On Charge of Swindling

James C. Creighton, 46, Fox Lake, was arrested in Chicago this week on a charge that he directed a $110,000 swindle of Montgomery Ward & Co., in a series of shoe transactions.

Creighton is the senior merchandiser of the big mail order house and worked with two other men, his brother-in-law, Frank Fichter, 38, of Chicago, and Edward Weiss, 48, part owner of a Chicago retail shoe store in staging a confidence game. Officials charge that Creighton set up bogus companies in Chicago and used them with his Fox Lake Store as an intermediary company through which he bought shoes for the mail order house, giving them an ample cut in the cost which he passed on to his employers.

All-Star Wrestling Bout At Round Lake Saturday Night Pits Titleholders

An all star wrestling show, featuring two World's Champions, Walter Palmer and Billy Goetz, world's heavyweight and junior heavyweight title holders respectively, will be staged at the Lions' Ball Field in Round Lake, on Saturday night, July 2nd, at 8:30 p. m.

The show is under the auspices of the Round Lake Improvement Assn. for the benefit of the Children's Playground. The show is being staged and made possible by the donations of the school board donating the park; Fred Kohler donating the wrestlers and the Lions' club donating the seating equipment and the lights. It is a practically a one hundred per cent donation with all parties concerned.

The Palmer-Goetz clash will be an overweight handicap match. Palmer must beat Goetz two straight falls before the one hour time limit expires or lose the match. If Goetz wins a fall, Palmer loses the bout and if Palmer only wins one fall he loses. Should the match go the sixty minutes before Walter gains two falls, he is the loser.

Mrs. L. G. Strang suffered a broken bone in her foot and two broken toes when she slipped off the sidewalk curbing in Waukegan, falling on her foot, a week ago. She was taken to Victory Memorial hospital where she is still a patient.

Bomb Exploded at Rear of Bussie's Tavern, Much Damage Done

Blast Similar to Four Others In County Against Handbooks

Considerable damage was done when some unidentified person exploded a black powder bomb at 10 p. m. last Friday in the rear of the tavern of Charles (Bussie) Keulman at 899 Main St.

The bomb, described as a three-pounder, ripped a hole in the heavy steel door, shattered windows, and damaged the stairway and rear entrance of the tavern.

It likewise blew in the double loading doors of the Reeves drug store next door, demolished 64 windows including the glass skylight, and tumbled medicines and other stock off the shelves in the store room. The damage there was nearly $2,000. Only the big plate glass windows withstood the shock of the blast.

Eight windows were broken in the upstairs apartment of the building occupied by the Herman Holbek variety store, and buildings farther south felt the impact in one way or another.

Fortunately for Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Borovicka, owners of the drug store, they were not in their office at the time otherwise they might have been killed, for the force of the explosion blew glass all over the room, one piece piercing a hat on the wall. They had left for a celebration of Mrs. Borovicka's birthday anniversary, otherwise they would have been at work in the office. They arrived 10 minutes after the blast.

Many customers in the store were shocked by the explosion. Miss Edna Drom, an employee of the store has been bedfast all week because of shock and other employees have been absent.

The bombing was the fifth of a series in various parts of the county. They were said to have been planted at places where gambling paraphernalia was situated. The first was in Waukegan, and the two others the same night were at Grass Lake and Lake Bluff, where slot machines were kept.

More recently a building in Fox Lake where a handbook was said to have been operated was bombed.

The target for last Friday's bombing was a handbook in the rear of Bussie's tavern which had been operated by Charles E. Gaffey, according to Chief Deputy Sheriff Walter L. Atkinson.

The owner said the place had been closed for two weeks in response to the notice of the sheriff that bookies should be closed. Sheriff's deputies said that the door leading from the tavern to the gambling room had been boarded up and dust on the tables indicated the place had not been used for two weeks.

There were reports that some person were seen entering and leaving the rear of the building, but the usual cluster of parked cars of the customers has been absent.

There has been all kinds of speculations as to who planted the bomb and why he did it. The Waukegan News-Sun said that the bombings bore the marks of the work of John (Blackie) Sullivan, object of several gangland plots, but he denied having anything to do with them. The accusers said he is trying to muscle in on a cut of the gambling profits, but if the bookies were closed, he said there was no object.

Local police are leaving the entire affair to the sheriff's office, which can handle the local vandalism as a part of the whole picture.

Crops Have Favorable Weather, Corn Knee High, Much Hay Cut This Week

Humid weather with occasional showers has been excellent for crops in this area during the past week. The rain of two weeks ago saved the corn and other crops after a drought threatened to ruin them. Many farmers are cutting and caring for hay this week.

Grain is beginning to turn and it won't be long until the combine and the threshing machine will be heard. Corn will be the proverbial "knee-high by the Fourth of July."

One crop that hasn't been so pleasant this week is that of mosquitos. They are said to be the worst since 1928. Some people say they even defy DDT.

The Tuesday bridge club met with Mrs. Buck this week. Prize winners were Mrs. Mollie Sommer, Mrs. Osmond and Mrs. Berg.

Knowledge and Wisdom

The New York Times recently printed a report on the findings of a distinguished chemist to the effect that the world can support a population of 15,000,000,000 if we make the most of our chemical knowledge. He further predicted that meat and eggs will disappear from the diet, because a beef steer converts only about 12 per cent of its food into meat. Chemistry, he went on, will enable us to convert wood into sugar for human consumption.

Shortly afterwards, The Times published a letter from a doctor emphatically disagreeing with this theory. His purpose, he wrote, was to point to the pitfall in taking knowledge obtained in the field of chemistry and applying it to human nutrition without considering facts obtained in clinical medicine. Then he said: "Research in human nutrition during recent years definitely indicates the superiority of animal protein foods, such as meat and eggs, over all other foods. Further, there is strong evidence indicating that sugars are not only inferior foods but may also be harmful to the human organism . . ."

"The research in chemistry knows little or nothing of clinical medicine. It is not expected that he should. Clinical researchers are not expected to be chemists. Specialization is a necessity. However, the stores of knowledge gained from highly specialized fields of research must be applied with the wisdom that comes with broad knowledge and understanding."

For many years, optimistic accounts of the possibilities of ersatz foods made from wood and other materials have appeared at intervals. None of these products have come anywhere near expectations. The animal protein foods occupy a dominant place in the American diet, and nothing has appeared to dislodge them.

Cutting Two Ways

According to Washington reports, Congress is looking at much proposed new legislation with a wary and critical eye. This is largely the result of the decline in business activity and national income, coupled with the attendant rise in unemployment. Most of the law-makers seem more eager than in the past to refrain from passing measures which might further rock the economic boat.

One suggested law, which falls clearly into this category, would nearly double the present minimum wage, would eliminate certain exceptions to the law which have been in effect for years, and would place other restrictions on both employer and employee. Superficially, the measure would seem sure to improve the lot of the lowest-paid workers. Actually, there is good reason for believing that it would just the opposite. For the most part, the minimum wage directly affects only the unskilled, the marginal worker, the beginner, and the part-time worker. The value of these workers to the employer is very limited. If the law required him to pay them more than their productive worth, he would necessarily employ as few of them as possible.

This would be particularly noticeable in enterprises such as retailing, which offer many opportunities for beginners and occasional workers. The typical retailer really has to watch the pennies now if he is to make both ends meet. The consensus of experts in the field is that too high a minimum wage, along with the other restrictions, would lead to wide spread layoffs.

Unwise social legislation can be a two-edged sword, that will hurt those it is designed to help.

A Lot of Money

It costs a lot of money to build and maintain the facilities that are needed to meet the public demand for goods and services.

Take oil as an example. This year, the industry will spend $2,100,000,000 for capital investment alone, for expansion and modernization of its physical properties. And this is the third consecutive year that the industry has invested money at the two billion dollar rate to take care of demand for oil products.

We are so used to talking in big figures these days that they no longer make much of an impression on the mind. We can visualize $2,100,000,000 far better when we break it down into easily-understood units. It works out to $14.50 for each of the 148,000,000 people in the United States. To put it another way, it comes to $53 for each of the 40,000,000 cars, trucks and buses which are burning gasoline, oil and lubricants throughout the nation.

Where the money is coming from is of interest. A minor part will be derived from loans. But the major part will come out of the industry's earnings. Last year, oil plowed back oil profits we've all read about seem a great deal smaller. The owners, who are hundreds of thousands of investors, get only a modest percentage of those profits. The lion's share goes into the ground in search of new crude supplies, and into refineries and cracking plants and transportation facilities and other necessities. That's how a record breaking demand for oil in all of its many forms has been successfully met.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Gnorski, from Waukegan, visited the Wilbur Hunter family Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Finkel and family also Mr. and Mrs. James Payne and daughter from Glenview enjoyed a week's vacation together on a fishing trip to Yellow Lake, Wis., last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hogan, of Waukegan, and Mrs. Clifford Hogan and children, of Wadsworth, were Sunday afternoon callers at the Earle Crawford home.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Bishop, of Kenosha, and their daughter, Mrs. Paul Liddicoat and baby Stephen, from Michigan, visited the Harrie Tillotson home Saturday evening. S. J. Handley attended the funeral of a friend at Arlington Hts., last Wednesday.

Geo. Handley and family, of Chicago, are out here for the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. David Bennett attended the church wedding of Miss Alice Delaney, Kenosha, to Edward Turner, of Racine, at Kenosha Saturday morning. They were also guests at the dinner following the ceremony and at the reception at the V. F. W. hall in the evening.

Come Right In!

Every day over five million homes throughout the country are visited by door-to-door salesmen, and today this field of selling is said to be a seven-billion dollar industry.

Modern Nurse
Before 1873, nurses kept no records of treatment and medication administered in their wards. No charts of patients' conditions were kept other than the doctors' notes. With the development of modern medicine, the professional nurse of today has become a specialist requiring years of education before she is qualified for her highly technical responsibilities.

National Forest Wildlife
More than two million head of deer, elk, and other big game animals—or about one-third of the nation's total big game population—live on the national forests. The forests contain 90,000 miles of unposted streams and one and a half million acres of fish-producing lakes. In 1948 they played host to four and a half million hunters and fishermen.

Butter Eaters
Yearly butter consumption in Pacific coast cities averages 22 pounds per capita, but in the South it is only eight pounds.

For Safety's Sake
Look both ways before crossing a street or highway. Do not jaywalk. Cross streets only at designated crossing places.

Tip about that trip..

For fun-on-the-run, as you've already discovered, there's no travel mate like that Buick of yours—especially if it's really in the pink. So while you're readying yourself for vacation tours, how about doing the same for your car—with a little of that special Buick care that does so much to make trips top-notch? For instance—

Got plenty of pep? Our engine tune-up is just the ticket to bring back flashing, new-car liveliness on hills and straight-aways.

Can you "stop on a dime"? The answer's yes—when our experts get through truing up worn drums, mounting new linings to replace old worn ones.

How's your view? It'll be good, night and day, when you let our experts check your lights, windshield wipers, and windows.

Want a good steer? That's just what you've got, after our front-end experts get through adjusting your steering mechanism to give it new-car lightness.

Chassis sassy?

Does it ride roughly—squeal and squeak at you?

Drive In—we'll "shoot the works" with our grease guns and oilcans to take the noise and stiffness out of your ride—give you easier steering.

And a Buick-trained mechanic will give your car a conscientious trouble-preventing inspection as well—without charge!

In short, start your trip in our shop and you'll find it free of car worries all the way. Drop in—see our facilities—talk to our experts—and see for yourself it's the best insurance of a good time that you can buy.

Library Notes

Irma Gross Drooz decided to be a doctor at the age of five and held to her resolve despite a noticeable lack of parental enthusiasm. First came college and premedical courses, then a three year stretch of work to earn funds and finally admission to medical school. Dr. Drooz tells of the terrific scholastic requirements, the hopes, fears, despair and triumphs—state boards, internship, and specialization in neuropsychiatry. "Doctor of Medicine" was presented to the Antioch Township Library in memory of Mrs. Clara Willett.

As the daughter of the chairman of the committee on Foreign affairs, Vera Bloom soon became an expert hostess. She approaches entertaining as though it were both an art and a science and passes on to her readers the techniques that eliminate wear and tear on both hostess and guests. Her book, "The Entertaining Lady," has chapters on parties, decorations, clothes, conversation and travel which are an excellent guide to good living. "The Entertaining Lady" is a gift to the library in memory of Mrs. Elizabeth Griffiths.

Both of the above books are available now at your library.

Mrs. Homer B. Gaston returned last week from a ten days visit with her daughter, Mrs. H. E. Shepard and family at Lake Latawana, Missouri.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Herman, of Channel Lake, spent the past two weeks with their friends, Mr. and Mrs. George Meier, at their home in Akton, New York, whom they had not seen for the past twenty-five years. While there the Meiers celebrated their thirty-fourth wedding anniversary with a trip accompanied by the Hermans to Canadian Horseshoe Falls and the Falls from Luna Island.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT OF DAUGHTER

Mr. and Mrs. Henry TenBruin, 4609 Palmer Street, Chicago and Channel Lake Bluffs announce the engagement of their daughter, Henrietta Ruth to Mr. Harry Zander, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Zander of Chicago and Fox Lake. The wedding date will be announced later.

WESLEY CIRCLES TO HOLD MEETING JULY 6

A regular meeting of the Methodist Wesley circles will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday, July 6, at the church. Mrs. Elmer Hunter will conduct the devotions and Mrs. Roy Kufalk will be in charge of the refreshments.

METHODISTS URGE HOUSING ACTION

A manifesto sponsored by The Church Federation of Greater Chicago, urging immediate action on the housing emergency was read in the Methodist Church Sunday morning by the minister Rev. G. Richard Tuttle. Later the congregation forwarded a petition to the Governor of the State.

The Manifesto, developed by a special Housing Now Committee of the Federation, calls upon all citizens to urge the Governor, the Housing Board and private and public officials to take leadership in the "immediate development and execution of a comprehensive program for new housing." It further urges the State to act at once to utilize all funds and resources available to it for housing, taking into account the needs of all income groups without regard to race, religion, or nationality.

The Manifesto points out that the present rate of construction, including all plans for public and private building is not replacing the housing annually being destroyed by fire, demolition for highways and depreciation. Of even greater importance "is the moral and spiritual crisis to which lack of adequate housing is contributing in tens of thousands of Chicago families."

Continue Double Services
Two services, one at 8 o'clock and one at 11 o'clock are being observed every Sunday at the church during the summer months. At the service on Sunday morning the minister, Rev. G. Richard Tuttle, will speak on the subject, "Why Does God Permit Evil?" Charles B. Watson, a tenor, will be the soloist at the 11 o'clock service. He will sing "Vain is My Strength." A nursery for small children is maintained at both services.

Little Kay Anderson, the ten year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burt Anderson, who has been in the Shriners hospital at Oak Park for the past two months underwent a major operation recently. Kay is doing nicely and it is expected that she may be able to return to her home in about three weeks.

DR. MADDEN HOME FROM HOSPITAL

Dr. L. V. Madden who has been in Hines hospital for the past month, returned home Monday and is able to receive visitors.

Mrs. Pearl Rosen, night supervisor at Holy Cross College at South Bend, Ind., is spending two weeks with her brother Otto S. Klass, who returned home from Victory Memorial hospital a week ago and is convalescing at his home.

Keeping Fit Field Day For 4-H Boys and Girls At Grayslake Saturday

The Annual Keeping Fit Field Day will be held on the Grayslake Grade School Grounds on Thursday, July 7, starting at 9 a. m., according to an announcement by Ray T. Nickolas, Farm Adviser, and Helen Volk, Home Adviser. All 4-H Club members are invited to participate.

On that day specialists from the University of Illinois will be here to conduct the tests and exercises which will show the 4-H young people of this county just how strong and physically fit they really are. So far Illinois is the only state which has organized such a program for its rural young people. The keeping-fit activity has been used since 1941 to stimulate the interest of the 4-Hers in their physical growth and health.

This program is different from other health programs because it puts the responsibility for good health and physical strength on each individual youngster instead of on doctors and nurses. It emphasizes the need for boys and girls to keep healthy and shows them how they can improve their health instead of helping them to get well again after they become sick.

Parents are invited to come with their children and watch the tests conducted by specialists from the University of Illinois who will be there on that day. The specialists will explain why it is so important for young people to build sturdy basis for adult health.

service and head of the world's largest naval training center since September, 1945, Capt. Grassie will bring to the Lockport institution "a genius for administration and a wealth of experience in handling men." Bishop Sheil said in revealing the appointment at a press conference held in the Lewis College radio station, WFJL, at 75 East Wacker Drive, Chicago.

In describing the unique organization of Lewis College, Bishop Sheil said that its three independent educational programs had progressed to the point where Captain Grassie's ability for coordination and development would be of immeasurable value in directing its future growth and expanding its service to the youth of this area.

Founded in 1930 by Bishop Sheil as a Catholic technical school open to students of all faiths, Lewis College offers junior college-credit courses in the basic sciences and liberal arts.

In addition, it conducts an extensive terminal program of licensed aviation maintenance courses open to youths who desire to follow careers as aviation maintenance supervisors, aviation mechanics, and in aviation operations. An applied electronics program is also available to high school graduates intending to enter the fields of radio, television and industrial electronics. The third phase of the Lewis College educational program includes all C. A. A. approved flight courses leading to private and commercial pilot certificates as well as special ratings in instrument flight, flight instructor, multi-engine ratings, and helicopter pilot. Love Among Lawmakers

BOISE, IDAHO.—Rep. Edwin Snow arose in the Idaho house of representatives and asked: "Will the lady from Ada yield to a question?"

Pretty, red haired Rep. Edith Miller replied: "I'll yield, but only to the question. And I won't guarantee the answer."

"I was wondering if the lady from Ada would consent to marry me," Snow said.

The house roared with laughter. Speaker Larry Mills hampered for order and ruled that the question need not be answered. Miss Miller disappeared, blushing.

She returned a few minutes later and announced that "on a point of personal privilege, I accept Mr. Snow's proposal."

Details of their legislative romance were entered in the records of the house.

Rare Old Volume Is Treasure Trove Of 'Tongue Tangles'

WORCESTER, MASS.—The Society of American Antiquarians has acquired an alliterative asset in a rare early edition of the children's nursery book "Peter Piper's Practical Principles of Plain and Perfect Pronunciation."

Published in near-by Lancaster in 1830, it goes through the alphabet with a tongue twister for each letter. Best known is the famous: "Peter Piper picked a peck of pickled peppers;

Did Peter Piper pick a peck of pickled peppers?

If Peter Piper picked a peck of pickled peppers,

Where's the peck of pickled peppers Peter Piper picked?"

The astonishing alliterative admonition in the preface goes: "Peter Piper, without pretensions to precocity or profundity, puts pen to paper to produce these puzzling pages, purposely to please the palates of pretty prattling playfellows, proudly presuming that with proper penetration it will probably, and perhaps positively, prove a peculiarly pleasant and profitable path to proper, plain and precise pronunciation."

Escaped Prisoner Calls On Jailer for Room Rent

LOUISVILLE.—The crowning insult, according to Lt. Frank Callan, jailer at the county jail, was the telegram he received from Frank Madish, 40, a Huber law prisoner who failed to return to the county jail.

The telegram, Callan informed District Judge Harvey L. Neelen Tuesday, read:

"Please forward room rent." Madish, Callan said, was picked up Sunday at a downtown hotel, where he had been living since taking French leave. And his arrest, according to Callan, ended one of the unhappiest periods in Callan's experience as a jailer.

For, in addition to the telegram, there were a dozen or more telephone calls that Callan received at his office and at his home from Madish.

And each time Madish referred to Callan in ungentlemanly terms, the jailer said.

Madish had been sentenced to six months in the county jail Jan. 7 on a charge of malicious injury to property.

Under the Huber law, Judge Neelen permitted him to leave the jail to work during the day in order to support his estranged wife and his two children.

But Thursday, when Madish failed to return to jail, Callan learned that Madish had quit his job and had taken his pay check.

Grotesque Items Hold Interest at Museums

MILWAUKEE.—If the persons who annually make more than a million and one-half visits to the public museum were to be polled as to their favorite exhibits, it's a safe guess that they'd place shrunken heads and mummies high on the popularity list.

More questions are asked about the shriveled heads of dark skinned Jivaro Indians, who plodded the jungles of Ecuador some 50 years ago, and the bound forms of two Egyptian priests than any other exhibits, according to museum guards.

Some visitors return annually to see whether the heads have shrunk any more or if the glaring Jivaros still have their teeth. They do.

Young and old, they gaze with fascination at the mummies, one of them 2,600 and the other 3,600 years old.

"I've often wondered why the shrunken heads and mummies are so popular," commented Dr. Walter D. Kline, associate curator of education at the museum. "I guess it's the grotesqueness of it all. That same tendency is evident in the extreme interest of some children in seeing skeletons of both animals and humans. Only, in those cases, it doesn't take much of a look to satisfy them. One glance and they are ready to take in something else."

Visitors find it difficult to believe that birds mounted with the original coat of feathers are not faked reproductions.

SHORT STORY

Mister Gill

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

AT FIRST Mr. Otis Gill had seemed to take a liking to young Arthur Forbes. But he changed his opinion when the Champion began to buck the choppy seas of the open Atlantic. She was not a large liner, and the waves were running high. Arthur Forbes turned away suddenly and, clutching the deck rail for support, shaped an unsteady course for the companionway.

Mr. Gill burst into guffaws of laughter.

"Seasick!" he said, addressing a young couple nearby and nodding toward the companion way.

3-Minute Fiction

The young couple smiled politely but with a lack of enthusiasm. Neither of them felt equal to the task of getting up and following on young Arthur Forbes' heels.

The dining salon was located beneath the forward deck; Mr. Gill's table was at the extreme end, near that section where the vessel's bow began to narrow. He had hardly seated himself when he saw that young Arthur Forbes was placed two tables away and slightly behind. There was a plate of food on the table before the youth, but it was untouched. Like one in a trance Mr. Forbes was sitting with eyes widened greatly beyond their normal size, cheeks as pale as death.

After a time Mr. Gill saw that the youth at the other table was staring toward a porthole, and his grin broadened. The porthole was located far forward, and with each dip of the vessel one could see the entire slope of a wave, from trough to crest. Then for a space there would be nothing but open sky. It provided a sensation similar to riding on a roller coaster.

Mr. Gill knew that as long as young Forbes continued to stare through the porthole his seasickness would steadily grow worse. And he chuckled at the thought:

After a while Mr. Gill found it was easier to stare straight ahead than to sit half-turned in his chair in order to watch young Forbes, who, after all, wasn't the most pleasing sight in the world. And in staring straight ahead Mr. Gill found that he was looking directly through the porthole at the swishing seas.

Mr. Gill was sober now; his face pale, his eyes glassy.

HE WATCHED idly for a few moments and then looked away, conscious of a feeling in his stomach not wholly normal. The sensation passed and he looked again at the porthole, feeling more comfortable in his position. Instantly the same strange sensation attacked him again.

Mr. Gill was sober now; his face pale; his eyes glassy. Realization of what was happening to him came like a shock. He was seasick! Helplessly, miserably ill. Never in his life could Mr. Gill remember feeling so utterly at the mercy of anything.

Miraculously Mr. Gill reached the doorway and disappeared up the stairs. Instantly the dining salon was a bedlam of laughter. Up toward the bow young Arthur Forbes was wiping some white substance from his cheeks and grinning broadly. Several men came over and spoke.

"I'll change your order, sir. Bring you some hot food."

Mr. Forbes smiled. "Thanks. And say, steward, that was a smart idea of yours—asking me to play the role of the helplessly seasick passenger and placing Gill at that table directly opposite the porthole."

The steward nodded, eyes a-twinkle. "We have a man like Mr. Gill on board every voyage, sir. And we have that table placed there for just his type. No one else is asked to sit so far forward."

Mr. Forbes chuckled. "Think of everything for the comfort of your passengers, eh? Well, if you didn't I'm afraid this voyage would have proved almost intolerable—with Gill talking the way he was."

College Professor Studies Slang Of Tough Thugs

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—Who would think the study of fish off the Grand Banks of Newfoundland would bring a man fame as a specialist in the slang of criminals?

That was the chain reaction set off when David W. Maurer, fresh out of college, took a job prying into the migration habits of deep sea fish along the North Atlantic coast. It was in 1929, the heyday of bootleggers and rum-running. Rum fleets were active around the Grand Banks.

Maurer became interested in the peculiar jargon of the rum fleet crews. One thing led to another until the erstwhile fish student, now Dr. Maurer of the University of Louisville English department, is widely known for his articles and lectures on criminal argot.

Maurer insists he is not an "authority" or "expert" in this field. He says there isn't any such thing. However, it is doubtful whether any other scholar in the United States has such a large vocabulary of underworld lingo. Also, there probably are few university professors with as many contacts among pickpockets, safecrackers and confidence men.

Reasons for His Study.

Why bother with such uncultivated language? That's a logical question which Maurer often is asked.

"In the first place," the professor explains, "it's a part of the English language. Leaving it unstudied would be like leaving a part of the world unmapped."

Second, he says, criminal argots feed the language constantly with new words. Few of us realize how many words and expressions now used in polite society were coined by criminal groups.

The expression, "pass the buck," seems to have started among card players of American pioneer days. Maurer says the best information he can get suggests that a knife with a buckhorn handle sometimes was laid before each player in turn to indicate who was dealer.

Other Expressions.

We call a close friend a "side kick." Maurer explains that to a pickpocket it means a side pocket of an overcoat. Hence the term is used for someone who is always by one's side.

Maurer points out that terms that have become obsolete in literature often survive in underworld lingo. From there they sometimes are reintroduced into everyday speech.

Take the word "phoney," for instance. Maurer still is working on it, but he believes it came from an old Irish word, "flanne." Eighteenth century London crooks pronounced it "fawny." They used it to mean a lead ring plated with gold, later any false jewelry and finally anything not what it seems.

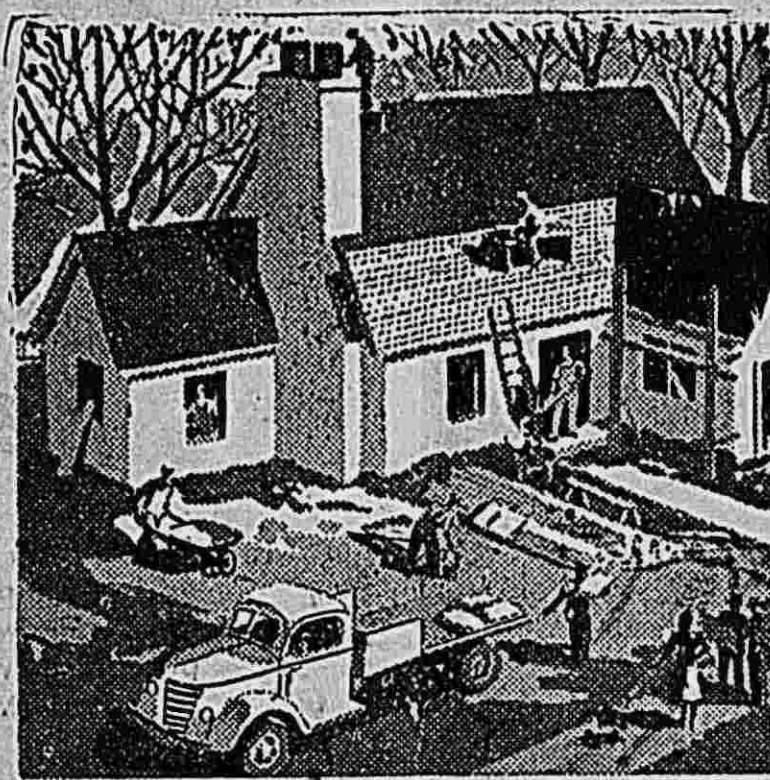

The spelling "phoney," came into use in this country after 1900, apparently by a connection in the criminal's mind or ear with the word "phoney," for telephone.

Deepest Caves

Speleologists (cave explorers), with fanatical zeal, follow natural cave passages wherever they can squeeze their bodies through. Deep caves are plentiful in the Alps and Pyrenees notes the National Geographic Society. The deepest known, in the French Alps, stops short of 2,200 feet—one-fourth the African gold miner's floor. At Carlsbad, N. M., the third and lowest level of 32 miles of natural caverns is 1,320 feet.

Old Age Security Card At 65 Not Enough Says Bernard Barnett, Manager

"Minimum qualifications must be met before a person is eligible for social security retirement payments," Bernard Barnett, manager of the Waukegan, Illinois social security office said today, adding, "Mere possession of a social security card at age 65 is not enough."

"While ten full years of work is enough to qualify anybody, older men and women can draw social security retirement payments even if they worked less than ten years," Mr. Barnett continued. "The exact length of time depends on the worker's age. It may be as little as one and one-half years if the worker was 65 before July 1, 1940. Ten years of work is required only for those who will not be 65 until 1957 or later. Work done after age 65 counts toward meeting these requirements."

"These qualifications may vary according to the date of birth of the worker," Mr. Barnett explained. "If you are interested in knowing what your minimum requirements are, be sure to contact the social security representative in the Post-office Building in Waukegan, Ill."

SOME FUN

Gag Writers Worry, Too

NEW YORK—Sidney Reznick, a lugubrious young man under any circumstances, folded the newspaper and gave himself up to woe. "You wouldn't realize it," he said, "but the international situation is what makes my job so hard these days. How can I know what will make people laugh when the world is so upset?"

Reznick is a gag man and, typical of many in his ulcer ridden craft, hasn't had a hearty laugh himself in years. His normal reaction to an uproarious joke is a dead panned nod and the single word: "Great."

"My ulcers are getting ulcers," he said, "trying to keep people laughing when every day brings them worse news in the international sphere. Probably you haven't noticed but we've had to switch many of our premises for humor."

They Laughed at This

"For example, we used to get howls with situation humor. That is where the laughs are built into a situation. Like this: Husband leaves house and immediately boy friend enters. Husband unexpectedly returns so boy friend hides in closet. Husband forgot his brief case and is looking for it. Now practically every bit of dialog can produce a laugh because of the fact the audience knows the boy friend is in the closet."

"You have a situation," in other words. After squeezing all the laughs you can out of the situation you can get a final blast by having the husband kiss his wife good-by a second time and then, as he passes the closet, knock on it and say: "Good-by, Sam."

Reznick said the hair trigger news from abroad was making people impatient with the "situation" gag and its long buildup.

Times Do Change

"They want split second jokes," he said. "And those are the toughest to write. Also there is a peculiar trend toward 'neurotic' humor—if that's the right word. Psychiatry has become a good subject for laughs, which is sadly indicative of the times."

"Take this one. Woman on vacation sends her psychiatrist a post card: 'Having wonderful time. Wish you were here to tell me why.'"

This emphasis on the punch line, Reznick said, is affecting the renaissance of the pun.

"I know it's supposed to be the lowest form of humor," he said, "but I'll bet 75 per cent of the jokes people laugh at are puns or near puns."

Since Reznick has written jokes for such stars as Milton Berle, Al Jolson, Jimmy Durante, Ed Wynn and Phil Silvers, he is somewhat of an authority.

"I remember," he continued, "the first time Gov. Jim Folsom of Alabama came to New York. I was with a joke writer and the first comment he made was 'you can Folsom of the people.'"

Police Charge Ex-Sexton in France With Double Slaying

BORDEAUX, FRANCE—A former church sexton was charged with killing his wife and a mistress, and was being questioned about a missing third woman.

Police said the case of Emile Descamps, 64, might develop into another "Bluebeard" horror story. After an all-night grilling, Descamps confessed that he had killed the two women, but later, after trying to kill himself in his cell, he denied everything.

Descamps was questioned along with his current mistress, Marguerite Pujos, 54. They live in a village 10 miles from Bordeaux. Police searched their house and said they found women's rings, handbags and watches.

Police said Descamps' story began in 1939 when Helene Aubry left the village of Mezin with a "Louis Descamps" and never returned. Six years later, they said, Miss Aubry's son, Jean, notified police of the disappearance and demanded an investigation. The search led to the discovery that a second woman had disappeared. She has not yet been identified.

Detectives then began trailing Descamps' wife. It developed that she also had disappeared in 1945 after resuming life with her husband in a hamlet near Bernay.

Descamps told his employer that he had taken his wife to "her brother's." He returned home alone and later left the village. He was arrested in a town near Bordeaux.

Police said they still were working on Descamps. They said he tried to kill himself with a small dagger.

Trapped Soldier Forces Way Out of Submerged Automobile

NORTHUMBERLAND, PA.—Woodrow Carr, 26-year-old army sergeant, has only a few scratches to show for this series of events: Carr's automobile swerved off a bridge near his home at Northumberland and plunged 100 feet into the icy waters of the Susquehanna River.

Carr found the water pressure had sealed the car's doors. He finally managed to push one door wide enough to wriggle out and swim 50 feet to shore.

'Americans Are Too Fast,' Says Visitor From India

SOUTH BEND, IND.—A newspaperwoman from Lucknow, India, after a month's visit in the United States, says Americans are too fast, too selfish, too nervous and too greedy.

Mrs. Rajini C. Asrani, 34, sub-editor of the English language Lucknow Pioneer, visiting South Bend, also charged that Americans lack knowledge of other lands and lack peace of mind.

The native of India said of New York City: "I got the impression of a throbbing and pulsating humanity. . . . The high buildings towering on both sides felt like the walls of a closed room. . . . I had the strangest desire to run out and get a breath of fresh air."

U. S. Scientist Hunts Snail's Foe To Save Guam Base

WASHINGTON — Somewhere in the African jungles is an American scientist—on a mighty mission. He is hunting a snail-eater, preferably a hungry one. If he succeeds he's to take the animal to Guam by the fastest route.

This unusual story has come to light in hearings before a house subcommittee on the navy appropriation bill.

Capt. W. F. Jennings, assistant chief of naval operations for island governments, told the story at secret hearings.

The Japanese are a snail-eating clan. When they took over Guam during the war they brought their snails along. When they quit the island in the war they left a lot of things, including their snails, behind.

The snails started producing by the millions.

"They're about to take over the island," cried Captain Jennings. They are "about four to six inches long and weigh about a pound to a pound and a quarter."

The captain said those snails are about to eat the navy out of business on the island. There are 11,000 arable acres on Guam; good for raising corn, potatoes, peas, melons and sugar—without any mischief-making from the snails.

When the situation got out of hand the navy yelped for help. National Research council and the department of agriculture answered. They started a one-man search for snail-eaters in Africa. (The offending snail happens to be a giant African one which the Japs somehow imported.)

Captain Jennings remarked that we may not be too safe from this snail in San Diego, Waterloo or Norfolk.

Kansas Postoffice Is Stuck With 115 Cases of Whisky

FORT SCOTT, KAS.—There was $5,000 worth of whisky sitting back of the postoffice here and nobody was willing to try to move it.

The whisky, 115 cases of it, was seized by the federal alcohol unit when found in a truck near Oswego, Kas.

Marion Ernest Kirk, Perry Okla., was charged with a federal liquor violation and the liquor ordered forfeited to the government. But the government later dismissed the action against Kirk. Then a federal court order was issued, rescinding the confiscation order.

Then a truck driver appeared at the back of the postoffice and called for the liquor. It was understood that it was to be shipped to Joplin, Mo.

Sheriff Russell Simmons and Daniel O. Lardner, county attorney, weren't sure who was doing the shipping, but they advised the truck driver that if he moved the liquor off the postoffice property they would seize both the truck and the liquor under Kansas' dry law.

The liquor was unloaded and 80 cases were left on the platform in the rear of the postoffice. State authorities are watching it closely. The other 35 cases are in the postoffice vault. Postoffice officials say they'd like to get rid of the liquor.

But so far no one, who might have an interest in the liquor, had found any way to move it without running into the state's dry law.

Escaped Baboon Terrorizes Passengers on Ocean Liner

PLYMOUTH, ENGLAND — Passengers aboard the Dutch liner Amstelkerk told the story of how a 150-pound baboon broke out of its cage, bit a crew member and terrorized all aboard until it was captured.

The Amstelkerk, a 4,457-ton vessel, was en route from West Africa to England when the baboon broke loose. Crew members chased the four-foot tall animal up the masts, along the bulkheads, and through the first class accommodations where some 80 passengers were quietly drinking tea.

Passengers quickly disappeared into the cabins with the baboon in hot pursuit. Stewards finally threw a sack over the baboon's head and locked it in a stronger cage. Only casually was the bosun. He was bitten on both arms.

The baboon was one of a number of animals being taken to zoos in the Netherlands.

SHORT STORY

Terry, The Fox

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

"YOU CAN'T FOOL an old fox like Terry Oakes," Anse Aetell was saying. "Not even if you're the smartest bank robber and gangster in the country." He chuckled, reflecting on the story he was about to tell.

"Glenville was pretty well wrought up that summer. In June government agents came through, warning all the small town banks in the countryside to be on the lookout, and advising what to do. Duke Insabato and a couple of his henchmen, driven from their haunts in the large cities by a concentrated effort of local and federal agents who were dead set on bringing an end to the current wave of crime, were hiding out in the sticks and whiling the time away by staging spectacular daylight hold-ups of small town banks.

"The trouble was that no one knew where the varmints would strike next. Duke Insabato was smart. He understood small towns because he was brought up in one and, he chose as the object of his pilfering banks that were pretty well isolated and unprotected.

"June passed and part of July. Gradually the fear of Glenville citizens began to subside. Only one other small town bank had been held up, and that more than 150 miles away. The depositors who had withdrawn their accounts re-established them.

"Terry Oakes, the trust company president, didn't gloat. He was an old-timer at the game and he understood human nature. Early in June he'd had some signs printed and hung around the lobby of the bank. Such things as 'Save for Your Old Age,' 'Deposit with Us and Your Money Will Be Safe.' The citizens smiled a little. Terry was trying to reassure them. One other sign was printed and inserted behind the glass in the front door. This too, amused them, but it didn't annoy them any.

"On July 15 the quietude of Glenville's main street was abruptly and harshly interrupted. A high-powered black sedan suddenly appeared at the town's south end.

"Two to one," he said calmly, "Sheriff Irons picks up Duke and his gang at Jepson corners. I just phoned him."

trance, roared down on the bank and came to an abrupt halt. Loungers in front of the General Store jerked erect. Three men had leaped from the car. Two of them, one carrying a machine gun, ran toward the bank. The third stayed on the curb, a second machine gun nestling in his arm.

"The loungers, pop-eyed and frightened, watched in stupid fascination. To their utter astonishment they saw the two bandits turn at the bank door without entering, rush back to the car, pile into it and drive away."

"IT ALL happened within seconds. For a moment or two the loungers sat transfixed. Then of one accord they leaped up, raced across the street and entered the bank. Terry Oakes was talking on the telephone. He hung up and smiled at them.

"Two to one," he said calmly, "Sheriff Irons picks up Duke and his gang at Jepson corners. I just phoned him." He looked from one pop-eyed citizen to another. "No harm done, boys. They didn't even get in."

"But why didn't they? What happened?"

"Terry grinned broadly. "Duke Insabato knows small towns. He was a small-town boy himself. That's why he picked this hour to do his hold-upping. Right after lunch."

"That's where I fooled him." Terry paused to chuckle and glance toward the front door. "It's lucky Duke knows small towns. Otherwise he might not have taken any stock in my sign."

"The bewildered citizens turned toward it and read. They were a little dazed, and not quick to understand.

"The sign read: 'Bank Closed. Out to Lunch. Return in One Hour.'"

Money Returned to Loser With Nearly $200 Profit

READING, PA.—Money may not grow on trees, but Martin Boyer is convinced it sometimes springs from nowhere.

Boyer, treasurer of a knitting mill bowling team, placed a cigar box containing $600 on the running board of his car while preparing to drive to a New Jersey resort.

Then he forgot the box and drove off. The box fell off the running board right in front of the knitting mill where Boyer works.

Boyer didn't discover his loss until he reached the shore and telephoned Police Chief Raymond Miller. Meanwhile, other knitting mill employees reported the license number of a motorist they saw pick up the box.

Boyer and Chief Miller went to the motorist's home and recovered the box, which now contained—not $600 but $719.40. An additional $77 was turned in by knitting mill workers who said they found the money.

No one could explain the extra $196.40.

Mother, 38, Bears Her 22nd Child in Atlanta Hospital

ATLANTA, GA. — A 38-year-old Atlanta woman proudly exhibited her 22nd child in an Atlanta hospital.

Mrs. Maude Ethel Pope named the new baby, a boy, Daniel Martin Pope after the attending physician.

She says this is her last child, explaining:

"Twenty-two children for a 38-year-old woman is enough."

Mrs. Pope said "about 10" of her 22 children are still living.

Mrs. Pope made news when she went to the city hospital for "treatment." She told doctors she had been working too hard digging a well at her house.

It developed that Mrs. Pope not only dug a well but built "enough of a house for us to live in." She commented from her hospital bed:

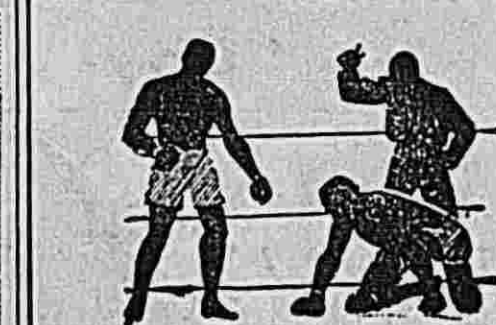

"As soon as I'm able to get up and about, I'm going to finish the house."

Mother's Influence

The mother usually sets the pace for the rest of the family. When she is irritable or hurried, the others will feel it; if she is calm and serene the others will feel that too.

Pigs Get Hemophilia

Hemophilia, the "disease of royalty" that causes victims to bleed to death from slight abrasions or other bodily injury, affects pigs and dogs as well as human beings. In dogs and people, it is known to affect only males. In pigs, however, both females and males may be stricken. It is reported only rarely in animals, but may be more prevalent than reports indicate, due to the inability of owners to recognize the condition. Hemophilic animals usually do not live longer than a few weeks because even minor injuries cause fatal hemorrhages.

Disability

Average adult is sick 100 times during his lifetime; about 85 times with minor ailments and about 15 times with major disabilities.

Interior Decorating

Interior decoration work has a bright future because "of the tremendous increase in building of homes since the war."

STUDEBAKER'S REALLY ROLLING! 1949 IS A STUDEBAKER YEAR!

SHORT STORY

He-Man's Code

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

ANDY had sensitive eyes and delicate hands but Leonie, horn and bred a westerner of pioneer stock, was human. She loved him. It wasn't until after they were married that she discovered he was a physical coward.

She found out the night of Serena Boone's engagement party. Tony Swift was there. As usual he was drunk. He was a handsome devil, this Tony, tall and bronzed and reckless. He had been Leonie's childhood sweetheart.

3-Minute Fiction

The first thing Tony saw when he came through the door was Leonie and Andy dancing together. A scowl crossed his face. Then he laughed. When they whirled past him he stepped up and whacked Andy on the back.

"Tony's cut," he grinned. "Make way for a man."

Leonie flushed. Andy hesitated, looked at Tony, then gave way smiling. "Sure thing," he said. "Your dance, Tony."

As soon as she could, without appearing too obvious, she asked Andy to take her home.

There she accused: "Why did you let him insult you? Oh, the shame of it!"

Andy was startled and bewildered. "Let who insult me, honey?"

"Who?" Se stared at him. "Tony Swift, of course! I was never so humiliated in my life."

"Tony? Oh, you mean because of what he said? Shucks, honey, Tony didn't mean anything. He was drunk."

The appalling truth flashed across Leonie's brain in that moment. Andy was a coward! He'd been afraid of Tony, which was why he evaded the issue! With a little whimpering cry she turned and ran sobbing from the room.

A week later, on Saturday night, Andy stopped by at Seth Lancey's store to see Seth on a matter of business. A couple of boys from his mine were there, drinking at the bar. Minutes later, talking with Seth, he heard a rumpus out front. Investigating he discovered that two boys were engaged in a brawl with three men from the Bar V cattle ranch. Andy stood by and watched a while. Others joined in. It began to look as though the place would be wrecked. Andy got out of there.

Leonie heard about it the next day. That settled things for her.

"If I ever see your ugly face around here again, I'll kill you!"

ANDY was bewildered and unhappy. The next day he found himself brooding over the situation. By mid-afternoon he could stand it no longer. Leaving Noah Tait in charge of operations, he drove home. As he strode up the walk he heard a cry. He burst open the door and found Tony Swift trying to kiss his wife. Tony wasn't drunk. He was babbling something about Leonie really loving him.

Tony whirled at the sound Andy made. His lip curled. "Oh! The sissy from Bos—"

Andy strode across the floor. His face was black. "I guess," he said bitterly, "your dumb, after all. You need teaching." He struck out. Tony tried to dodge, but Andy's fist clipped him on the chin so hard that he went down.

"Damn you!" He lunged, but Andy wasn't where he expected. Andy's fist flashed out again, and again Tony went down. Andy jerked him to his feet and hit him again. He hit him a third time and a fourth. Blood covered Tony's face. Tony whimpered for mercy. Andy dragged him to the door and threw him out.

"Andy!" Leonie fled into his arms. "Oh, my darling, you were wonderful! Oh, precious, forgive me for what I said. Andy, why didn't you do that before—that night at the dance?"

Andy frowned. "Why, shucks, honey, I don't like to fight. Don't you see? He was drunk then. There was no need."

Leonie laid her head on his shoulder. "I see, darling. Of course I see."

But she didn't.

Resistant to 2,4-D
Sweet corn and asparagus are the only two crops tolerant enough of 2,4-D to allow its use as a weed control agent. Most other vegetables are injured by the concentrations of 2,4-D necessary to kill the weeds, according to Cornell's vegetable crops department.

Inconel
Inconel is a high nickel-chromium-iron alloy with excellent corrosion-resistance and high mechanical properties. It has been found to be the best of alloys tested for some of the most exacting conditions in film manufacture and handling.

Railroad Jobs
Railroads provide a job for one out of every 43 people in the U. S.

Fruit For Breakfast
Fruit and fruit juices stimulate appetite and good digestion. Fruit raw, cooked, canned, frozen, or dried may be used. The citrus fruits—oranges, grapefruit, and tomatoes—are good sources of vitamin C so that they should be included often for good health. Fruits in season are always a wise choice for breakfast.

Handle Hogs Gently
The careless handler of hogs hurts all hogs. He reduces the total amount of money that will be paid for hogs. He forces some cuts to be sold at a trimmings price, well below the price of the cut on the open market. Care and kindness pay off. Help the trucker load carefully. See that his truck is equipped to take good care of your hogs.

Personal Injury Costs
In the dairy industry, the cost of each lost-time personal injury accident is equivalent to profits on 50,000 to 60,000 quarts of milk, or 10,000 to 12,000 quarts of ice cream. This estimate does not include property damage to company vehicles, time lost because of non-deliveries, or the cost of replacing and retraining employees.

Easy on 2,4-D
Use no more 2,4-D than the minimum need. The compound is powerful. An overdose may seriously injure even tolerant crops.

Human Brucellosis
About 70 per cent of the human Brucellosis disease cases come from swine, and most of the rest from cattle and goats.
